

Maryland Legal Aid: Who We Are

Maryland Legal Aid is a non-profit law firm dedicated to providing high-quality legal advocacy to protect and advance human rights for Maryland's most vulnerable low-income individuals, families and communities.

Established in 1911, Maryland Legal Aid provides free civil legal services to low-income individuals and families statewide and serves Baltimore City and Maryland's 23 counties from 12 full-service offices. Maryland Legal Aid receives funding from federal, state and local governments, foundations, the United Way and other private sources. Because of certain funding limitations, most clients have incomes at or below 125% of the federal poverty guidelines. Further, Maryland Legal Aid focuses its practice on civil issues (e.g., housing, consumer, family, and public benefits) and does not accept criminal, personal injury, or traffic court matters, even if a person is financially eligible. Maryland Legal Aid does, however, provide assistance with criminal record expungements.

Maryland Criminal Record Expungement

Your criminal record may keep you from securing employment, housing, a loan, credit, or custody of a child. Here are a few things you should know about Criminal Record Expungements in Maryland.

What is a Criminal Record Expungement?

A Criminal Record Expungement means that any arrests or criminal records are destroyed or sealed. An expunged record cannot be seen by the public, employers or background check agencies. However, the record may still be seen by government agencies, police, military, and other agencies that require a security clearance for a particular job.

IMPORTANT: If you have a current charge or case pending, you cannot expunge any records until the pending charge is resolved.

What charges CANNOT be expunged from Maryland state records?

The following list includes examples of items that CANNOT be expunged from Maryland state records with some exceptions:

- Most Convictions—cases that ended in a guilty finding;
- Pending criminal matters;
- “Unit Rule”: If there are multiple charges or cases from the same incident, and any of those charges are not expungable, then the entire list of charges and cases from the initial incident is not expungable, regardless of the disposition (i.e., guilty or not guilty).

You can Expunge your own Criminal Record

Visit <http://mdexpungement.com/> to expunge your criminal record on your own. It costs $30 to file each expungement petition in many circuit courts. It is free to file expungement petitions in district courts. Enter each case number and the website will offer guidance as to whether your record might qualify for expungement. The best way, however, to determine eligibility for expungement is to seek legal advice from an attorney.

What happens after my Expungement has been filed?

After you or your attorney submits your petition for expungement to the court, the State’s Attorney has 30 days to object. If that happens, a hearing will be scheduled. If the court orders your record expunged, the process can take up to one year. Agencies such as the police department have 60 days from the date of the court order to remove your record.

Make sure to confirm that your record was expunged by doing an online case search or getting another CJIS report. Always keep a copy of your court records and expungement court order.

Do I still have to disclose my Criminal Record on employment applications after Expungement?

You do not have to disclose arrests and convictions on employment applications if they have been expunged from your record. However, some employers (e.g., military employers or employers who require a security clearance), are still going to be able to see these items on your record. In these instances, it is generally better to disclose your record.
